
AIM Provider Consortium

The AIM Provider Consortium supports centres with the delivery of AIM qualifications.

AIM Awards provide nationally accredited and regulated qualifications across a wide range of subject areas at varied academic levels. AIM qualifications can be delivered with creativity and individuality by a range of centres ranging from small training providers to large educational settings.

The consortium is made up of a number of centres, which can consist of schools (mainstream and special schools), training centres and any other services offering AIM qualifications to their learners.

The consortium enables centres to:

- access support with the set up and assessment of AIM qualifications
- network with other centres and share resources
- deliver good practice around the qualifications offered through AIM

The main advantage to centres being part of the AIM Provider Consortium is access to a 'one stop shop' with no requirement for centres delivering AIM qualifications to gain individual centre recognition, which comes with associated costs.
